The CLAY TELEPHONE.

The CLAY TELEPHONE.

Mr. Glasgow, chairman of a special committee of the Board appointed to consider an ordinance passed by the Common Council graving the right of way through the city to the Clay Telephone Company, submitted the following

A contest exists between the company and the Bell Telephone Commany, the latter having instituted suit in Philadelphia against the Clay for infringment. It is elaimed that Bell is the original discoverer of the only method hithertoused for transmitting speech by electricity. There has been much littigation, and so far the decisions of the courts have sustained Bell's chaims. In the case against Dolbear and others in the United States Court for the district of Massacusetts Justice Gray, an associate judge of the Supreme Court, folly sustains Bell's claim. We think the agents of the Clay Company. We think the agents of the Clay Campany dugit the above. "Reply,—The Bell telephone patent is of the iron-elad variety. Its owners have hitherto been able to first off all rivals in the courts. They are now engaged in flee litigation involving a question of priority of invention. Under the curemstances, it does not seem advisable to accept the service of any cheaper competition of the Bell telephone unless one could be a should be appropriated in sured against the consequences.

To grant this petition would be an encouragement to our people to unite in an infringement of the Bell patent, as the matter sow stands in the courts. Mean time, as we understand it, the Clay Telephone Company may establish its wires on the house-tops, as the Bell did, without any authority or endorsement from the Council.

Your committee deem it unnecessary to consider the subject further. They will, add, however, that it is a question to be gravely considered, whether competition may not be obtained by some other method than by multiplying lines of telephones. They suggest that when more than one company offers efficient service, with a clear title to its device, it might be feasible to let the franchise periodically to the one that would furnish a satisfactory service at the least cost. We only present this as a

He had been asked to establish a telephone by people who were dissatisfied both with the service and the prices charged by the Bell Company. No citizen could lose a cent. nor could the city lose a cent. All that the Clay Telephone asked was a chance for competition. Let the companies fight it out.

Mr. Chaim said he had threatened to sue the Bell Telephone Company for incompetent service. He wanted the Chinese wall around Richmond cut down, and competition in all trades and anterprises invited to come in. It was an absurd position for the Beard to take to pass upon the legal merits of the case. He was opposed to Jay Gould

Mr. Glasgow spoke in advocacy of his report, and claimed that he had given close time to the legal merits of the case. He spoke at length, giving logical arguments to support his theory, and diving into law and electricity to back it. He was opposed to the multiplying of telephones, and considered it an eril. He favored leaving the franchise periodically.

Mr. Page didn't think the Council had anything to do with the law case. Because there was a legal point involving the right of a patent on a reaper, was no reason why

Mr. Rose moved the rejection of the report, and the convergence. ort, and the concurrence in the actio port, and the concurrence in the action of the Common Council, granting the Clay Telephone Company the right to erect poles and run telephone wires through the city. The Board refused to concur in the action

The Board concurred in the resolution passed by the Council, which relieves the police of the duty of lighting and putting out lamps, and gives the control of the san to the Committee on Light.

Hold the Returns.

A well-known entizen of Richmond who was at Patrick Courthouse on Wednesday states that he heard read there a telegram from General Mahone, in which Mahone urged a friend to have the county returns held until he (the General) was heard from. To other counties Mahone telegraphed to hold the returns; that counsel were on their way. Here in Richmond at one time it was feared that the purpose of the Republican Commissioners of Election was to refuse to count the vote because the supervisors had not signed the returns. On the day of election a Republican judge, in the discharge of his duties, as he understood them, was, without trial, summarily removed from offse by the Judge of the Hustings Court.

Deputy-Marshal Ballard (nuder orders from Mahone, it is believed,) refused to appoint any Degeographe (easy), refused to appoint any Degeographe (easy), refused to appoint any Degeographe (easy), refused to Hold the Returns

Deputy-Marshal Ballard (under orders from Mahone, it is believed,) refused to appoint any Demogratic deputy marshals after his chief (Mr. Hughes) had expressly promised, in writing, that Demograts should be appointed, and after said writing was shown Ballard.

Discussion in the Legislature is soon to be had on the McCormick bill. All these things will be referred to. Those in possession of the facts ought to write them out and send them to their representatives. Let us go into the argument fully armed. Beath of Colonel Whitehead.

Death of Colonel Whitehead.

Colonel John D. Whitehead, after a paintul illness, died at 4 A. M. yesterday at his residence, on Church Hill. Colonel Whitehead was formerly an auctioneer and merchant in this city, but for several years part has filled the position of Justice of the Peace, doing business at the office of the High Constable. After the war, when the volunteer militia of the State was reorganized, Colonel Whitehead was elected captain of old Company G. First Virginia regiment, composed principally of young men of the eastern end of the city. He was afterward elected leutenant-colonel of the regiment, when Colonel John A. Slean was its commondant. He was also a member of Henrico Union Lodge, No. 131. A. F. and A. M., which is called to meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock to attend his funeral.

At the time of his death, and for many tears previous, the decased was a member of the City Democratle Committee. For one or more terms he was the superintendent of his ward. It was a steadfast, earnest, willing worker, respected by people of both parties, and made friends wherever he went.

The Democrats of this city lost hundreds of votes last Tuesday by that interpretation of the law which allows a voter who swears be has been here three months to register without producing a transfer. Formerly he was required to show a transfer. Now he isn't; consequently his name stands on the books of his former place of residence, (say Hanover, Henrice, or Chesteffield,) and is on the Richmond books, too. Rev. Dr. Moses D. Hoge's discourse on Sunday afternoon, in his own pulpit, on the momentous importance of "righteonsness" in a nation, was so timely and appropriate.

To exclude the idea or allegation that the sentiments of the sermon applied to the seenes and events of recent weeks and months, the Doctor in the outset explained that for the first time in several years he would speak from a manuscript which had been written prior to the nomination and election of presidential candidates.

The basis of the discourse was the memorable exclamation of Elisha at the august heavenly exit of Elijah: "My father, my father, the chariot of Israel and the horsemen thereof"; which exclamation had been subsequently repeated at the natural death of Elisha by his wicked King Joasb.

The speaker forcibly described the moble and beneficent careers of these eminent prophets, whose influence was so potent for Israel's weal. Beth the King and the surviving seer meent by their apotheoses to say, "More than the infantry, more than the cavalry, of Israel have stood for the defence of the nation the genuine courage, the stering integrity, the true levalty, the swerveless honor, and the godily consecration of these departing prophets of Jehovah.

So he argued that the incorruptible character of the clitizen was a truer panoply and surer bulwark for the State than armed feets and terrible battalions. The wisest of Kings had said: "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." Cogently the speaker urged that "not revenues, not weath, not waving harvests, not fertile coil, not salubrity of climate, not population, not education, not culture, not terrilorial extent, not wise forms of government, not wise rulers, not military power, but 'righteousness,' righteousness, exalteth a nation."

He arged that righteousness in the people resulted in popular and civil honesty, sobriety, justice, chastity, humannty, forherance, peace, and prosperity.

On the other hand, the "reproach" of sin on the part of a people involved t The following programme was agreed upon:

I. At sunrise on the 19th there will be fired a salute of 219 guns, one for each electoral vote for Cleveland and Hendricks.

II. It is requested that all steam whistles in the city shall blow and all belts in the city shall flow and all belts in the city shall ring at 1 P. M.

III. The banks, railroad offices, &c., are requested to close at 3 P. M., and manufactories at 1 P. M.

IV. Day fireworks on the old City-Hall lot, between 3 and 44 P. M., for the special entertainment of the ladies and children, and country visitors who have to leave the city before night.

V. Procession of clubs of Richmond, Manchester, and all other towns, cities, and countres who may be represented. Line to form at 7 o'clock P. M., at Twenty-fifth and Main. Route—Up Main to Fifth. Fifth to Franklin, Franklin to First, First to Broad, Broad to Twelfth. All persons are requested to decorate their houses for the day and illuminate them for the night. Chief marshal to make arrangements for forming the line.

VI. Speaking.

[Before the speaking commences the whole audience will be asked to John in singing a song, composed by a Richmond lady. It is an appeal for a return of fraternal feeling between the sections, and is to be sung to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne."]

Resolved. That we earnestly urge the Democrats of each town, county, and city in the Commonwealth to Join in our jubile on the 18th without further invitation.

Resolved, That the Manchester Demo-erats be specially invited to Join in the pro-cession, and we shall rely upon them to in-troduce there such features as will con-tribute to the good cheer of the occasion.

Interesting quadrennial services were is id at Trinity Methodist church Sunday, on the occasion of the closing of the four-vears' term of service of Rev. J. Wiley Bledsoe. In the Sunday-school the super-intendent (Mr. Thomas W. Pemberton) colled attention to the loss of their beloved pastor, and made a very touching allusion to his devotion to the school. Mr. Bledsoe responded in a few remarks tuil of feeling. The school then arose and sang a parting hypin. Messis, Pizzini, Siegel, and Poindexter were appointed a committee on fireworks and distribution of same.

Mr. Siegel was authorized to go North, with the view of securing material for decorations, tableaux, &c. He will leave to-day or to-morrow.

At the morning and might services the congregations were very large, and the exercises were of the same nature. The pastor preached his farewell seration at night, taking as his text the "Anostolic Benediction," H. Corinthians, 13th chapter, 14th verse, "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost be with you all. Amen." Making (from New York to Norfolk).

This gives 32 miles shorter to Norfolk, not calculating the increased time for trans-fers and water-line. I think it is fair to asfers and water-line. I think it is fair to assume that this water-line and transfers cannot be made short of two hours. If so, it gives the Richmond line one hour to make up the 32 miles. From Wilmington to Pocomae is a single track: from Wilmington to Washington a double track; from Norfotk to Weldon is so miles; from Richmond to Weldon 85. In fair weather the two lines are practically the same; in rough weather the Richmond line has a decided advantage. This is a fair and impartial statement, made from the Railway fuide, except the water-line (whech. I think, is 42 miles, though the parties in interest call it 40). It will certainly be a great advantage to Norfolk and no injury to Richmond. Every new railroad gives a new development which no one party can appropriate. One may get the largest share, but cannot get all.
